VALENIAN 1936

PUBLISHED BY

SOUTH TOWER

FOREWORD

AS you leaf through this book, we hope to impress you with an interpretation of the progressive spirit as it exists in Valparaiso High School today. The art work, the photography, the arrangement of material, all factors harmonize to fit in with the modern trend, yet there are no ideas employed which have not been tried previously and found sound. This is in keeping with the policy of our school to develop only along rational lines. Thus, through improvements in the VALENIAN, we strive to give evidence of the advancements made in educational method.

DEDICATION

WE, the Senior class of 1936, dedicate this VALENTIAN to the hearty spirit of progress that characterizes the students and administration of our school. We are thankful that we have been educated in an institution truly modern in equipment and method, yet hesitant in its adoption of radical practices unless they have been proved of value.

Since this policy has kept Valparaiso High School in the ranks of the most advanced educational groups thus far, it is our hope and belief that the maintenance of this position will be made possible by continued adherence to the principle.

ART MOTIF

In this era the trend of all style is modern, and modern photography, which has proved so successful in the commercial world, has been employed in the 1936 VALENIAN in accordance with the motif of progress.

This type of photography combines simplicity and beauty for a striking effect. Contrasting colors, shadows, lines, angles, and geometric shapes are found in modern camera studies.

Considerable work and effort are embodied in these photographs. Set-ups for stages were built in great detail.

These were cut from black, gray, and white paper, and perspective and depth were obtained by placing them in progressive positions. The photographs were taken as a light was focused upon the stages—thus producing the shadows in the background.

As to the caricatures, the student-artist used a ping-pong ball, painted upon it the facial features and added cotton hair, paper noses, ears, and glasses. Book models were made from small pieces of wood covered with paper. The replica of a desk was constructed of thin wood, painted and shellacked.

The frontispiece was not only designed and set up by the art editor but was photographed and enlarged by him.

PRESIDENT OF SCHOOL BOARD

Mr. I. C. Tilton, president of the school board, is a prominent local attorney. His sound reasoning is a valuable asset to the school administration.

VALPARAISO

THE SCHOOL BOARD

The controlling power of the Valparaiso City Schools is vested in the school board composed of three prominent citizens: Mr. McKay, Rev. Wharton, and Mr. Tilton. It is their work to employ the personnel, to equip the schools, to determine the length of the school year, and to manage the schools in general. The execution of their decisions they entrust to the city superintendent of schools, Mr. Julian.

MR. J. J. McKAY
Treasurer

TREASURER OF SCHOOL BOARD

Mr. J. J. McKay is the youngest member in service and the treasurer of the school board triumvirate. His success in the publishing business has been duplicated in his connection with the school.

SECRETARY OF SCHOOL BOARD

Rev. C. W. Wharton, secretary of the board, has been the respected pastor of the First Presbyterian Church for the last thirteen years. His service of three terms on the school board is greatly appreciated.

REV. C. W. WHARTON
Secretary

HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING

THE SCHOOL

Valparaiso High School students have as their daily laboratory one of the finest educational buildings in Indiana, a school complete for every need. The building itself is in the same perfect condition it was when erected eight years ago. The grounds and athletic fields meanwhile have been greatly beautified. The excellent upkeep is the handiwork of the hardworking caretakers.

OFFICE CLERK

Grace Helmer has been office clerk of Valparaiso High School since her graduation in 1928. Her efficient help is of great service to the administration. Last spring matrimony called—result, a “Mrs.” adorns her name.

GRACE HELMER
Office Clerk

MR. ROY B. JULIAN, Superintendent

ROY B. JULIAN — State Teachers' College; Butler College, A. B.; Indiana University, A. M.; graduate work, University of Chicago. Agreeable, frequent assembly speaker, paternal interest in all students.

While the VALENIAN is published by the senior class, it is the pride of all the boys and girls in Valparaiso Schools. The school history which it records is Valparaiso school history. The pictures which adorn its pages are pictures of our friends. The youngest pupils in the system look forward to the time when they can help build this book. We value this publication not so much for its intrinsic value as for the many things it symbolizes. Days of play, days of work, hours of happiness, hours of anxiety, are all called to mind as we turn the pages.

Our most sincere wish is that the staff had as much pleasure in creating the book as the rest of us will have in possessing it.

ROY B. JULIAN, Superintendent

SOUTH ENTRANCE AND DRIVE

Four years of association with these buildings have endeared them to our hearts. They seem a second home to us, for here are the scenes of our early steps toward knowledge of life.

HOMER M. JESSEE—Mathematics, Valparaiso University, B. S.; Indiana State Teachers' College, A. B.; University of Chicago. "I play hard when I play, and work hard when I work." Has a laugh heard 'round the school.

MR. HOMER M. JESSEE, Principal

If I were a youth now, I would develop my abilities to their fullest capacities, to be in readiness for the opportunities that are to be presented in the not distant future. Millions of new type homes, millions of new and finer autos, new roads, new railway equipment, improved farm machinery, new factories, and various other new types of construction must take the place of the old and obsolete. Air conditioning will be perfected; rural electrification will be completed; in short, this country must and will be rebuilt in the next fifty years.

What an opportunity for the young man or young woman who is prepared!

HOMER M. JESSEE, Principal

Although these structures are comparatively new, and possess all the facilities of a modern school, their utilitarian and architectural stability lends them an atmosphere imparted usually by time and tradition alone.

In Memoriam

HELEN ROWLAND

MR. AUGUST BUCCI

Shortly before the close of school in the spring of 1935, the students of Valparaiso were shocked to learn that death had deprived them of two dear friends. A tragic grade-crossing accident cost the lives of Mr. August Bucci, instructor of instrumental music, and Helen Rowland, one of the most promising of his pupils.

Mr. Bucci, only 37 years of age, led the Valparaiso High School Band to district and state championships and to favorable showing in the National Contest. He was well trained, having had practical experience as player, director, and composer. Previously he had been first district chairman and secretary-treasurer of the Indiana High School Band and Orchestra Association. He had just been elected president of that group.

Helen Rowland would have graduated with our class, had fate not intervened. She was a happy girl, with a warm and vital smile. She was talented as a pianist. She had just been awarded first division in the District Contest at LaPorte and second division in the State Contest at Evansville. She was active in sports. As a member of the Girl Reserves and as treasurer of the G. A. A. she made many friends.

Thus it is to two vibrant personalities no longer with us, one a friend who pointed the way to appreciation of art, the other a girl who smiled and sang, yet had an insight of life, that we dedicate this page.

- CHARLES DOUD—"Chuck", all-around head man, scientist, lets an "eyether" out occasionally, wears spats to hide the shoes he talks himself into buying.
- MARY DURAND—Jet black hair, snappy dresser, prefers university boys.
- JOSEPH DYE—"Joe", finally put the finishing touches on his education, was a gridiron flash, loafs around in a daze.
- MARTHA EDWARDS—Big help to the Home Economics Club, red hair, controls the temper that goes with it, inseparable from Viola.
- JAMES EVANS—"Bud", wise-cracking card shark, he vows 'em, or maybe he doesn't.
- MABLE FIELD—took Deutsche to heart, studious, neat in penmanship.
- PAUL GARRISON—Very quiet when there's no one to talk to, hated to leave V. H. S., put it off 'til now.
- NORMA GENTZ—Relies on nature for rosy cheeks, on skill with curlers for wavy hair, wants Diamond Lil's jewelry.
- JACK GOODMAN—Tumbles, a new son of V. H. S.
- EILEEN GRASS—"Don't call me lkie!", peppy yell leader, kept her fingers crossed at basketball games.
- BERNEICE GROVES—"Beanie", short of stature, dances, sings, tickles the ivories, label her "Dynamite".
- AGNES HAGERTY—Pretty eyes, shorthand whiz, defends her own views.
- RAYMOND HANDSCHY—"Ray", artist, also draws, he's the drummer man in the band, incorporated with Joe Smisek for "Zilch Gate Crashing Co."
- LOIS HILDRETH—Trim, dark, stylish, loves dancing, has that "Old Spanish Custom" appearance.
- ANNABELLE HINKLE—"Sprinkle", short, tomboyish, athletic, a Hinkle through and through.
- COURTNEY HOLT—"Cork", a one-woman man, L. M. C. kept him training for court, gridiron, and diamond, alias Parry.
- EVEA LEE HOLT—Has that oriental air, keeps her weight down despite Axel's Butternut Spring dairy produce.
- MILDRED HOWARD—Blonde, more serious than she looks, enjoys reading, acting.
- WILLIAM JENSEN—"Bill", blond paper-boy, argumentative as a criminal lawyer, interested in school.
- ALLENE JOHNSON—Jeanne's pal, straw-colored hair, summer address at night: Blackhawk Beach.

SENIOR PERSONALITIES

- LORRAINE JOHNSON—Enjoys bookkeeping when the figures add up correctly, plies the knitting needles with vim.
- MARJORIE JOHNSTON—Smart clothes, clear complexion, poetically inclined, "Oh, Mary!"
- ARLENE JONES—Diminutive, shy as a mouse, giggles, then looks scared.
- GERALD JONES—"Jonesy", slight, but a stickler, here, there, everywhere, backs away with "Let me at him!"
- HAROLD JONES—Don't forget the "Norman", the original Georgia peach, plays the cornet with a Southern drawl.
- GENEVIEVE JUNGJOHAN—That quizzical look, cinema-goer, likes Milky-Ways.
- CARLTON KLINE—"Tiger", takes long trips downstate in his Chevie. In football, "Who broke that man's leg?" "I done it, Coach!"
- HOWARD KRIEGER—Sliphorn slipper, wields the baton for "Old MacDonald's Farm".
- MARGUERITE KRUDUP—Enraptured by classic waltzes with Ed Pratt, distinctive walk.
- LUDWIG KUECK—Hates "Ludwig" and "Luddy", likes "Ludy" (and Lucy), a shock of hair o'erhangs his brow.
- ALICE KUEHL—Small, dimpled, recites with grimaces, smiles with dark eyes.
- HARRY LA FORCE—Ocean gale blowing from Bullseye's shores, popular in and out of school, a great guy, but not the way he thinks.
- ETHEL LAFRENTZ—Sweet face, curly hair, unconsciously provokes mirth with quaint speech.
- VERNON LAIN—"Bunny", wields a wicked ping-pong paddle, cranks a '26 Pontiac, Lee is his musical middle name.
- CHRISTINE LINDALL—"Teeny", taps, types, tops in sports, perpetual smile, big brown eyes.
- ROBERT LIPPMAN—"Bob", ex-football manager, plays (around) on the clarinet, hobbies: radio and electricity.
- RUTH LOGAN—Dances 'till the wee hours, goes for university men.
- BETTY LOTT—Gal from Chicago, plenty of style, still gets an appraising glance and "Who is she?"
- MARILYN LUDOLPH—Entertained ambition of playing trombone smears, pals with Dorothy Rex.
- ROBERTA MADAUS—Knows her German, blonde, studious, precise.
- DOROTHY MAGID—Industrious typist, she knows her "onions".
- BONNIE MAHON—Inseparable from Rosemary, enchanting, bedimpled smile, an eye for colors.
- THEODORE MAKOVSKY—"Ted", likes "jig" bands, rhythm in his feet and music in his sax, piano, or what have you.
- LENA MANAGO—Energetic, keeps shy of mystery stories.
- CECILE MANN—Always willing to help, makes eyes indiscriminately, busies herself somehow, always.
- PAULINE MANOLATO—Sprightly walk, attractive teeth, shows acting talent and love of literature.
- HELEN MATUK—Light hair, pleasing personality, speaks slowly and distinctly.
- ANN MAULSBY—Presidency of Girls' Athletic Association and Girl Reserves kept her busy, sole interest—sports, tomboyish and likeable.
- BRICE McCANN—Center, quarterback, end, halfback, all over the gridiron, sounds like a team, it's slow but sure McCann.
- KATHLEEN MCGILLICUDDY—Disarming smile helps her collect dues, Madame Curie the second.
- HELEN LOUISE McKAY—Good-natured, laughing eyes, elocutes about the rock-bound coasts of Maine.
- HELEN MEAD—Dignified, does her work well, light of voice.
- CARROLL MILES—Vocalist and director of no mean ability, can't outsmart Ruth Lindner, nervous but triumphant actor.
- BARBARA MUSTER—Walks speedily, purposefully, works silently, diligently, never obtrusive.
- VIRGINIA MYERS—Giggles, warbles popular songs, likes 'em hot.
- ELIZABETH NIELSEN—From a family of strong, silent men, "Lorraine, bookkeeping, and I".
- EMMA JEAN NORTH—Just hailed from Chicago, pretty, popular.
- ROBERT PIERCE—"Bob", big and handsome, but that didn't affect his work on the Viking eleven.
- VERNER RAELOON—"Swede", chemistry shark, the Valenian's big business man.
- WALTER RAYDER—"Walt", a second Londres, kinky dark hair, the girls don't worry him.

SENIOR PERSONALITIES

- PAUL REIBLY—"Gashouse", likes to quibble with Ray Clifford, only V. H. S. student who can keep a book clean.
- DOROTHY REX—Short, likes publicity, insistent, prefers the upper hall.
- MARIE RICKMAN—Tall, anticipates Saturday night, knows all about the "Prairie Farmer".
- CARMEN RIVADENEIRA—Long, graceful fingers, loves art, dark, has a red headed brother.
- JAMES ROBBINS—"Ribbons", cue expert, Miss Sieb named me "Orrie", has young ideas.
- JOHN RUGE—Chief threat to Lawson Little, demon of the basketball courts, another Grantland Rice.
- ROBERT SANZ—"Bob", teams with Lippman for tom-foolery, football manager, bashful, or is he?
- NELL SCHELLINGER—Good-natured, light hair, soft voice, farmerette.
- KENNETH SCHNEIDER—"Shere", "Ken", has tendency to skid into the ditch, likeable.
- DOROTHY SEVERIN—Used to like an aviator (has been up in the air ever since).
- GLADYS SHEETS—Smiles when she's not giggling, lets her brother take care of the athletic laurels.
- JACQUELINE SIEVERS—"Jackie", way up in the rafters, freckles, sense of humor, wrote some of these obituaries.
- JOSEPH SMISEK—"Joe", pantomime's his specialty, goes to the cleaners occasionally, where's his identity?
- ARTHUR SMITH—"Art", blushes down to his collar, speediest, hardest driving man in football, he isn't bashful around Jane.
- JAMES SMITH—"Jim", red headed candy salesman, grows like a weed, from the seat of rural civilization —Forest Park.
- FRANCIS SPENCER—"Spink", good tumbler, here, there, and everywhere.
- MAE STEINWAY—Practice teacher, Bernie Ulsh's girl, rhythm in her nursery rhymes.
- JOHN STEWART—"Jack", little man, big beard, yodeler.
- ROBERT STEWART—Practical joker, always with a pocketful of gadgets and a bunch of new jokes for his friends. Can imitate anything from a popgun to a porker.
- BETTE STODDARD—Short, dark, prone to disagree with Miss Hudson.
- JAMES STONER—"Jim," goes into convulsions on the cornet, slaps 'em over with cerebral superfluities, let his hair grow this season.
- MILDRED STUPECK—Sober student, earnest actress, grave girl — almost.
- ROSEMARY THOMPSON—"Rosie" to Miss Sieb, Byron's gal, lives down beyond Students' Bridge.
- ROBERT THORGREN—"Bob", a stolid son of a silent race, curly hair, all-around athlete, one of the "best-dressed".
- GRACE TIDHOLM—Almost a suburbanite, blonde by birth, pals with Lenora.
- ROBERT ULSH—"Bob", Santa Claus to the kiddies, businesslike when he's businesslike, Sir Galahad in an armoured tank.
- RUTH RAY WALLACE—V. H. S. polo team captain's flame, newcomer, she's from Missouri.
- LOIS WHARTON—Large, lovely eyes, likes proms, beats a wicked keyboard, always tops the honor roll.
- POLLY WHEELER—Mischievous, keeps several on the string, beats "boom-boom" on the big bass drum.
- VIOLA WHEELER—A chronic flirt, they all fall, Betty Boop's giggle—and that's not all.
- HOWARD WHITE—A master-mind, sits by the fireside with books and guns unless one of his out-of-town fems is around, then hold your hat!
- LILLIAN WILLIAMS—Dark and Mae West-ish in appearance, sweet and silent disposition.
- ARTHUR WILLIAMSON—"Art", stalking brute whose cruelty shows itself in the form of bird-call imitations.
- CONSTANCE WILLIAMSON—"Connie", smiles down at a dizzy world, gets around, though.
- ROBERT WILSON—"Bob", city slicker with generous smile and blond hair, has a crush on a Crown Point cutie.
- CAROLINE WISE—"Pet", possesses subtle attraction for boys, knows all the answers, has insatiable curiosity.
- PAULINE WITNER—Staunch basketball fan, efficient behind her spectacles, playful in sports.
- JAMES WOMACKS—"Jim", a horny-handed son of toil, modest, reaches school via chauffeur of some kind.
- CARL WOOD—Smirk smeared over his visage, twiddles a pencil in nervous fingers, wears his heart (pure gold) on his sleeve.
- PEARL WOODARD—Often seen with Lucille Burge, her Chaucer didn't agree with her.

UNDERGRADUATES

JUNIOR CLASS

Having emerged from the sophomore class, and feeling their superiority, the juniors elected their class officers for 1936. Those given office were: Joseph Gowland, president; John Morland, vice-president; and Alice Bond, secretary-treasurer. Besides these, the editor and business manager for the 1937 Valenian were elected, and are Robert James and Jean Morland, respectively.

Miss Sieb again sponsored the class.

One hundred thirty-two students compose the class, sixty girls and seventy-two boys. This class has charge of the annual Junior-Senior Prom, the most outstanding social event of the year. The juniors also made their contributions to the school in the capacity of sports, music, and art, as benefits those who are preparing for the serious business of becoming seniors.

Some who made noteworthy contributions to the school's activities during the school year were: Carroll Sheets, Adolph Jankowski, Russell Glover, Jack Chester, Campbell Kane,

SOPHOMORE CLASS

The sophomores have the advantage over the other underclassmen in experience and familiarity with school functions. The class is unorganized and is composed of 155 members, 78 girls and 77 boys. There is no sponsor and there are no class functions. Already the sophomores show initiative and co-operation in the general school activities. Many of the members have been outstanding in their work. In music, especially band and orchestra work, the sophomores made great contributions. Those interested in music are Helen Mae Ulsh, Mariangeneen Helvie, Francis Jones, Donna Shurr, and Mark Sink. Jean Ragsdale won recognition for unusual work in art. In the realm of sports William Windle, Roland Sheets, Ernest Thorgren, John Dodd, Campbell Holt, and Elroy St. Clair were leading.

The sophomore class is large and the members comprise a dominant part of the various school organizations.

Not a few of the sophomores consistently made the honor roll and several of them held offices in club work or represented the class in other ways. All of them are willing to help the freshmen in every possible manner, and they are greatly respected by the upper classmen for their attitude and accomplishments. The sophomore class will be the largest graduating class so far in the history of the school.

VALENIAN WORK

Contract signing, picture taking, identifying pictures, deciding on theme and covers, snapping poses, drawing pictures, making dummies, and mounting pictures, wild s.o.s.'s for more typewriters, then the feverish haste at the last minute to get all of the work in on time—this is the type of work performed by the Valenian staff.

Every day, at the fifth and eight periods members of the staff were working diligently.

Each one helped the other by offering friendly suggestions and talking things over with their adviser, Mrs. Foor.

The money obtained to finance the project comes from Valenian subscriptions, candy and ice-cream sales, senior plays, and class dues.

For five consecutive years the Valenian has been submitted to the Indiana High School Press Association for rating. It has always ranked high, and the '34 and '35 book received All Indiana rating. In the National Contests the '34 received All American rating and the '35, first class rating.

VALPOST STAFF

There are two Valpost staffs, the fall and mid-year. Each staff issues eight papers, and it was the aim of the staff to have every other paper contain six pages.

The work included selling advertisements to local merchants, canvassing the school for subscriptions, making the budget, writing all articles, proofreading, pasting the dummy, rushing last proof to the printer, counting, folding, and distributing papers, and always being on the alert for news.

The '35 Valpost rated first class in the Quill and Scroll contest and National Scholastic Press Association. Five individual awards were granted by the Indiana High School Press Association.

The individuals who became members of the Quill and Scroll organization this year are: Kathleen McGillicuddy, Caroline Wise, Howard White, and William Burk.

COMMERCIAL CLUB

Students who have interests along commercial lines belong to this organization. The meetings are conducted in a business-like manner, and members learn much about various vocations and life in the business world. Outside speakers help to contribute to this purpose at the regular meetings. The subject of professions was studied during the year and those who aided in these discussions were this there were bake sales throughout the year. A Christmas party, Valentine party, and a faculty tea are the major social events of the year. Fifty-five girls are affiliated. Meetings are held every other Wednesday from 8—8:30 A. M. Most of the year's programs were given by members within their own organization. Several addresses by outside speakers were given during the semester.

Mr. Robert Lanham and Mr. Jack Larrew from the outside. Faculty members and students also contributed.

The Christmas party and spring banquet are major social events of the year.

Miss Hudson is sponsor of the Commercial Club.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

A merry group of girls keep active in this organization. The club is under the sponsorship of Miss Bartholomew and Miss Weems and is a member of national and state societies.

This year the girls dressed and sold dolls as a new project. Besides

GERMAN CLUB

Members of the German Club are required to speak as much "auf Deutsch" as possible. The programs of German songs, plays, and stories are enjoyed immensely by the members. This year, for the first time since its organization, dues were paid. German folklore and modern German were studied. The Olympic games was a topic of interest this year. The new sponsor, Mr. Koch, is deeply engrossed in the progress of the club.

Berneice Brown and Mr. Koch wrote plays and fables, which were used as programs for the club.

The study of the lives of German authors and musicians were objectives of this organization.

TUMBLING

That boys not participating in major athletics may benefit by some physical activity, the tumbling Brownies were organized in 1931 by Mr. Brown.

A team of twelve members gives public performances and competes with other schools. The boys work hard and their sponsor gives them all his aid. Every week, on Tuesdays and Thursdays, from eight to nine o'clock in the morning, the boys are in the gym practicing to perfect their exhibition. Their act includes clowning besides the regular tumbling feats. This group has proved to be very popular with both the school and community and was requested to give many performances.

HI-Y

Ten years have passed since the founding of the Valparaiso Hi-Y Club. During this time, the organization has given to the school and community service which has been felt and appreciated. The national group which fosters this high school branch is the Y. M. C. A. The high ideals of the parent organization are preserved in the Hi-Y club, and all the members prescribe paign, a checkroom at basketball games, the sale of schedule pencils, the ushering of students in gymnasium convocations, and the distribution of Christmas baskets.

Some activities in which Hi-Y boys participated for entertainment and self-betterment are: the annual Father-and-Son-Alumni Banquet, the regularly scheduled bi-weekly meetings for devotional services and interesting lectures by guest speakers or members, attendance at various churches in a body, participation in the Calumet Region Convention at Roosevelt, East Chicago, the State Officers' Meet at Indianapolis, and the Northern Indiana Hi-Y Conference here.

Only those youths selected by the members and approved by the board may go through the formal induction ceremony which entitles them to Hi-Y sweaters and pins. A great variety of activities has been promoted by the local Hi-Y. Among those which are recognized for their valuable service to others are: the second-hand bookstore, the courtesy cam-

GIRL RESERVES

The qualities of ideal womanhood and true Christian character are stressed in this large organization. The keynote of the club is service and loyalty. The point system of the Girl Reserves was altered this year, requiring each girl who wished a sweater to have a hundred points and to have been a Girl Reserve for two years. Girls may earn points by rendering special services, as serving on committees, for being on the honor roll, for attending church and Sunday school, for special work on programs, for visiting the sick and taking things to the hospital.

These were recorded by Annabelle Hinkle for the seniors during the year.

As the project for the year the senior girls took each point of the code and interpreted it at the regular meetings.

These girls gave their services during the sale of Christmas seals, the distribution of Christmas baskets, and the freshmen reception in conjunction with the Hi-Y. Miss Butler sponsors this group of about thirty girls. In the junior reserve group various vocations for women were emphasized. Each meeting was devoted to a special occupation. Some of the speakers were from the faculty and others were outsiders. This group of thirty girls was sponsored by Miss Ruth Andres. They work for points by service as do the others.

Several outside speakers greatly contributed to the interest and enthusiasm. They were: Miss Mabel Benny, who spoke on "Friendship", Mrs. Robert Taylor, who spoke on "What are you going to do after high school?" to a joint meeting of three Girl Reserve groups, and Mrs. Louis Krieger, whose subject was "Vacations for Girls".

The girls assisted the other groups in the preparation of the Christmas baskets for the needy and in ushering at demonstration school in the fall and at the Christmas pageant. At the May Day breakfast they had charge of the preparation and serving of the meal and clean-up duties afterwards. The point system was revised, putting more emphasis upon correlation of service in the church and in the Girl Reserves. Many girls, therefore, earn points by active work in church, Sunday school, and young people's organizations. There are eighty-one members.

FOOTLIGHT MASQUERADERS

The members of the dramatics class compose the Footlight Masqueraders. Thirty-eight members compose the group, and they are sponsored by Mr. Conkling. The club enlivened many assembly programs by its comedies, but it did not specialize in comedies alone, for tragedies, semi-classics, and farces were included in its repertoire. Make-up is studied seriously, and each student is required to successfully transform a classmate into an old person and a middle-aged person. Constructing stages and working out the biographies of famous actors and actresses were the projects of the year.

Memorizing parts for plays requires many hours of concentration, and play practices take time and patience for perfection. Each one takes his part earnestly and does his best in his interpretation of the role.

The plays presented this year for Wednesday morning assemblies were: "Thursday Evening", "Andante", "The Land of Heart's Desire",

"Wurzel Flummery", "The Trysting Place", and "Rich Man, Poor Man". The Masqueraders put on a series of plays before the students and friends instead of the traditional senior play. A nominal price was charged each person for each play, so every high school pupil could go. By training separate casts for these several plays everyone was given a role some time in the year.

STAMP CLUB

The V. H. S. Stamp Club was organized in 1933 by Mr. Jessee upon the suggestion of the Senior Stamp Club. The study of stamps and stamp collecting is encouraged in this organization. Mr. Frank Reid has undertaken the sponsorship of the club for the past three years and the membership has increased to thirty members, all of whom are boys. To high school philatelists, Several members attended the conference of the Junior Academy of Science at Crawfordsville, and submitted a project and an account of the activities of this club, which has been a member of the Academy for six years. Both the members of the club and outside speakers add to the enjoyment of each meeting. New officers are elected each semester. An annual party is held in May.

the most important event of the year was the planning of a cachet to commemorate Valparaiso's centennial. Contacts were made with other schools and clubs. Every other week, a social meeting was held at the home of a member. At that time methods of collecting were discussed.

SCIEMUS CLUB

Young people who are taking science and are members of this organization learn many modern and astounding scientific facts under the leadership of Mr. Pauley.

The club stimulates an interest in science throughout the school.

GLEE CLUBS

The glee clubs, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Myers, furnish much of the musical entertainment during the year. Their first public appearance was in the fall concert, followed by singing at morning convocations. Boys and girls from the glee clubs formed the robed choir of the Christmas Pageant. Every day except Wednesday the glee clubs practice, the girls on Tuesdays and Thursdays and the boys on Mondays and Fridays. The practices continue from eight-fifteen until nine o'clock in the morning. The operetta, "The Bells of Corneville", was given by the combined glee clubs on April 22. These groups worked hard during practice and had confidence in their ability. Credit is given for glee club work.

Tryouts are given for voice placement at the first of the year and no boy or girl who is really interested in singing and can carry a tune is denied entrance. This work gives valuable training not only in singing, but expression and time in music. This year these organizations are larger than

BAND AND ORCHESTRA

This is the first year the band and orchestra have been under their new director, Glenn L. Tom. The band appeared at all athletic games, and both band and orchestra took part in the music concert given in the fall. Each organization met twice a week, the band on Tuesday evenings and Friday mornings, besides the regular band classes. The orchestra met on Tuesday

However, V. H. S. soloists entered the district, held at LaPorte in April. In spite of handicaps, both groups have retained their musical standards under Mr. Tom.

and Thursday mornings.

Mr. Tom has worked diligently with both groups to advance them.

The Band Mothers' Club sponsored several band parties and dances during the year; the Christmas stands out as a gala festivity.

The orchestra used several new music books this year including Hayden's suite. One fifth of a credit is given for band and orchestra work, and grades are given at the regular grading periods.

The orchestra furnished music for the operetta and for commencement activities.

There are thirty-nine members in the band and

OPERETTA

"The Bells of Corneville", a light opera by Planquette, was presented by the combined glee clubs and a specially selected cast under the direction of Mrs. Myers. The setting of this comic operetta was in Corneville, an old-fashioned Norman village of the seventeenth century. After many weeks of tryouts, the cast was selected and the operetta was presented on April 22. The ticket sale was under the direction of Mr. John Koch.

"The Bells of Corneville", was not only pleasing to all who saw it, but also a financial success.

Standing: Berneice Groves, Delores Cheney, Shirley Sullivan, Anne Wharton, Ruth Larson, Ruth Lindner, James Smith, Ralph Wilson, Willard Justice, James Horney, Robert Hurley, Roy Harlow, Carroll Miles.

Seated: Jacqueline Sievers, Mark Sink. Mrs. Myers, director.

Costumes and scenery did much to build a fitting atmosphere. The art class created posters displayed in store windows.

DOUBLE QUARTET

This year six new members entered the double quartet. Tryouts are given in the fall, and only those who have attained a certain degree of proficiency are admitted. Every Wednesday a half-hour practice is held in the lecture room. Mrs. Myers always directs this group. The melodious harmonizing of these young singers is very popular and many public appearances are demanded. During the year they entertained at the South Bend Teachers' Convention, Women's Club, junior high assembly, teachers' meetings and Wednesday convocations. This group is not to be confused with an octette for there are two tenors, sopranos, altos and basses.

CHRISTMAS PAGEANT

The merriest time of the year—Christmas! Crowded gymnasium, huge crowd, gayly colored costumes, brilliant lights and sparkling Christmas trees all helped to constitute the pageant of nineteen thirty-five. Weeks before, rehearsals were held and each school made preparations for the part it would present. A new feature was added to the pageant this year. Father Christmas and the

PROM

Gay young people dressed in colorful frocks and best suits and dancing to lively music under a bower of blue and white crepe paper and soft lights constitutes one of the most popular and anticipated social events of the school year—the annual junior-senior prom.

This climax to a year of hard work, and to some, the high school career they have pursued for the preceeding four years takes its place high on the roll of those activities considered worth while. It is the event of the year in which the advantages of our friendships and social education are manifested.

The prom is an annual expression of regard by the junior class to the graduating seniors. The expense arising from the decoration, orchestra, punch and conditioning of the gymnasium floor is shouldered by the juniors and is paid through the collection of dues.

In addition to the honored senior guests the faculty is invited and act as chaperons. The prom is held in Boucher Gym on the Friday preceeding the close of the school year.

The prom is a tradition which every one in Valparaiso High School hopes will be continued for many years.

SENIOR PLAYS

Instead of presenting the traditional senior play, the Footlight Masqueraders, under the direction of Mr. B. L. Conkling presented a series of three plays: "Wurzel Flummery", "The Trysting Place", and "Rich Man, Poor Man".

This plan was adopted because the expenses involved in a senior play have nearly equalled the profits. This way no expense is involved, the entire class is used in casts, and no additional time is taken in practicing than would be used to prepare one-act plays.

An admission price of five cents was paid by all students who wished to attend. Those taking part in "Wurzel Flummery" were: Harold Jones, Joseph Smisek, Marilyn Ludolph, Lois Hildreth, Marjorie Johnston, Vernon Lain.

The cast of the comedy, "The Trysting Place" was: Christine Lindall, Mildred Howard, Ann Wilsam, Vernon Lain, Robert Stewart, Joseph Smisek, and Raymond Handschy.

Those performing in the last play were: Marjorie Johnston, Helen Louise McKay, Carroll Miles, Gladys Sheets, Mary William Hausam, Marilyn Ludolph, Carl Wood, Ann Wilsam, Christine Lindall, Joseph Smisek, Pauline Manolato, and Annabelle Hinkle.

FOOTBALL SEASON OF 1935

Although opening their grid season with a 14-6 loss to Rensselaer at Brown Field, the V. H. S. gridders in the latter part of the contest showed the characteristic Viking spirit and courage which prevailed through the entire football season. On paper it was seven defeats and only one victory for the team of 1935, but little these figures reveal of the fighting hearts of both regulars and reserves who, though outweighed in every game, never quit until the final whistle.

In their second encounter, against the Plymouth Pilgrims, Valpo played much better ball but seemed unable to supply the winning punch and lost 7-0. The Pilgrims' first half march and the conversion accounted for the decision. However, in the second period Arthur Smith, diminutive Valpo powerhouse, started a Viking offensive which was finally stopped on the Plymouth two yard stripe. Arthur crashed off tackle for 11 yards and would-be tacklers bounced off him like jumping beans. Robert Thorgren plunged through center for 8 more yards. Then Courtney Holt made a brilliant 56 yard run to the Plymouth 5 yard line where the Pilgrim line held and averted the touchdown.

In the Hammond Tech game the Vikings played fine football in the last half, but the 24-0 lead which they had practically given to the Hammond eleven was too great to be overcome. Valpo had to be contented with a 24-7 loss. In the second frame, the game was all Valpo's. The touchdown play went from Jankowski to Curtis on a forward pass and then in turn, Joseph lateralled to Courtney Holt who scored.

Valpo roundly trounced Tolleston of Gary in a neat game 21-0. Adolph Jankowski broke away for a spectacular 70 yard run for one of Valpo's touchdowns. Hubert Harshbarger also broke into the Viking backfield and turned in a good all-around performance.

It is an outstanding fact that in every game substitutions for the Green and White averaged 10 players. These reserves give promise of a successful season next year.

The Viking players McCann, Shook, Thorgren, Smith, Holt, Kline, and Pierce will be sorely missed, for their hard fight against tremendous odds was a feature of the Valpo play.

Exchanging helmets, pigskins, and bruising gridiron tactics for basketball, queen of Indiana's sports, Coach Powell moulded his material into a powerful unit of typical Viking tradition. Adolph Jankowski, Courtney Holt, Wallace Blake, and Brice McCann formed the nucleus of the Valpo aggregation, and Carroll Sheets, Campbell Kane, Joseph Curtis, Jack Chester, Robert Thorgren, Russell Glover, Ketchell Crisp, Robert Kitchen, and Edgar Witner rounded out the team which won 7 games and lost 15 to competition practically unequalled in previous years. A noteworthy fact is also found in scanning records, that 6 of the 15 games were lost only by one or two points to exceedingly torrid opposing sharpshooters in the closing minutes.

The Blue Jays from North Judson met Valpo in its season's debut and administered a 23-22 defeat when in the closing seconds Ernest Long hit the basket on a weird, twisted pivot shot.

Journeying to the Maple City, the Vikings were unable to stave off a Slicer fourth quarter rally and lost to their ancient foes 31-25. It was LaPorte's first win in their last seven starts against Valpo. Holt played one of the best games of his V. H. S. career in floor performance as well as point-getting ability.

Wheeler, the class of Porter County quintets, gave Valpo fans a scare when they led 14-13 at the end of the third quarter. However, at this time the entire team, Witner, Jankowski, McCann, Holt, and Blake—gave Valpo the 25-14 victory in a spirited last period splurge.

In their first conference tiff the Vikings trounced Froebel at Valpo 26-22. Adie Jankowski shot Valpo into a 21-19 lead in the middle of the third quarter after the Vikings had been trailing 19-17. Holt's third free throw and McCann's fourth field goal of his total of 10 points accounted for a 24-19 lead which was never seriously threatened.

Whiting defeated Valpo 30-29 in the second conference game. Wallace Blake led the evening's scoring with 13 points. Three times he drove through the Oiler defense to draw blood.

Breaking the Valpo tradition of refraining from long trips, the Green and White trekked southward to Southport and emerged victorious 32-25.

Courtney Holt and Wallace Blake, the Viking's two guards, garnered just 22 of the total 32 points and aided the impression on downstaters that northern Indiana can still play high calibre basketball.

In a hammer and tong tussle over the Christmas vacation the Valpo five succumbed to a last minute basket to lose to Elkhart's Blue Blazers 23-22.

Next followed four defeats by Lew Wallace, Hammond, Emerson, and Washington respectively before Valpo gained revenge for LaPorte's previous win 23-16.

The Vikings then dropped games to Horace Mann 30-19 and Froebel 33-26 before conquering Whiting 33-22 with McCann and Holt leading the onslaught.

Warsaw furnished Valpo with its fifth one point loss 23-22.

Washington was the Viking's next victim 29-25. Carroll Sheets and Edgar Witner, who were now hitting their strides on offense, obtained 12 and 6 points respectively.

In the sectional at Gary, Valpo overwhelmed Tolleston but was nosed out by Emerson in the second round. Despite the fact that the Vikings lose valuable men, McCann, Thorgren, Blake, and Holt by graduation, a strong 1937 team can be picked from the reserves.

RESERVE BASKETBALL

News that a reserve team conference for freshmen and sophomores had been formed was welcomed by the Viking's second team, and they proceeded to establish themselves as top notch contenders only to lose out in the latter part of the schedule. The team showed great promise for future varsity material. While the Valparaiso fans witnessed a disastrous season for the first team, the play of the Junior Vikings and their future potentialities was a consolation for an otherwise dismal year.

BASEBALL

Answering the call to spring baseball training in 1935 were many veterans of the previous season's team, including Howard Longshore, pitcher; Charles Hoover and William Forney, catchers; George Miller, Courtney Holt, George Butterfield, and Herbert Claudon, infielders; Gilbert Johnson and John Shaw, outfielders. Robert Thorgren, Robert Pierce, Wallace Wilson, James Zimmerman, James Stoner, and Campbell Holt soon made the regulars step for their positions and gave notice that the '36 team would not be lacking in material.

The Viking nine won six games and lost three, a .667 percentage. Valpo won from Wheeler, Roosevelt (East Chicago), Washington (East Chicago), LaPorte, and two games from Kouts. The games lost were to Roosevelt (East Chicago), Wheeler, and Washington (East Chicago).

With the revival of track in the 1936 Valparaiso High School sport program, Mr. Ralph Powell has given over the coaching of baseball to Mr. Joseph Brown and Mr. Claude Pauley.

TUMBLING

The V. H. S. tumbling team exhibited its skill before audiences at Washington High School, East Chicago, and LaPorte, as well as before civic organizations and the student bodies of both the high school and Valparaiso University. The tumblers are organized throughout the school year as a tumbling club. From this group were chosen the members of the exhibition team. On Then Riley of South Bend, winner of the Northeastern Indiana Conference, came to Valpo to play off for the Northern Indiana Conference title and a large silver plated trophy. Riley won in a close encounter 7-5, Valpo losing the match on the final green.

Valpo beat the following schools: LaPorte, Hammond, Lew Wallace, and tied with Riley of South Bend. Of these schools, Hammond High put forth the toughest competition, but the accurate Valpo team could not be denied its triumph. The showing made by the five boys who entered the high school tournament at Indianapolis was very encouraging, due largely to the coaching ability of Mr. William Kendall, new golf mentor at V. H. S.

Harrison Baker, whose play was outstanding last year, graduated, as did Charles Beach and Gilbert Johnson. The others return to action this year.

Friday, April 3, the Viking team was host to the tumbling teams of Clark of Hammond, LaPorte, Mishawaka, East Chicago, Winamac, Nappanee, and Whit- ing. The headline performance was an exhibition by the gymnastic team of the University of Chicago.

NOONDAY LEAGUE

Featuring entertainment all through the year—football in the fall, basketball in the winter, and softball in spring—the noonday league attracted some 115 boys in 1935-1936. At noon, after sufficient lunch time had been afforded for people remaining at school, Mr. Ralph Powell, coach, blew his whistle and inaugurated the typical noonday festivities. Large attendances were not uncommon, for this driving back yard style of play was enjoyed by all V. H. S. fans.

In basketball eight teams of about ten members were formed, and the ensuing tourney was a thriller. George Miller, former varsity man, led the scoring with 87 points, Kenneth Rhoda followed with 70 points, and Hilton Gramps was third with 65 points.

In the post-season basketball tournament, after the regular season, Kenneth Rhoda's team nosed out Fred Schroeder's quintet to claim the championship honors. Twelve leading scorers of the main tournament were: George Miller, 87; Kenneth Rhoda, 70; Hilton Gramps, 65; Fred Schroeder, 62; Howard Kreiger, 51; James Stoner, 47; Chester Phillips, 46; John Shaw, 42; Wilard Justice, 41; George Butterfield, 41; Everett Crisman, 41; James Daly, 36.

The softball teams were captained by the following boys: William Peters, Ray Berndt, Hubert Harshbarger, Morris Reinke, Merritt Church, William Windle, Thomas Kiria-gis, and Leonard Kraft.

The teams at first played true "indoor" baseball, inside Boucher Gymnasium, although quarters were somewhat cramped. As soon as the weather permitted, the diamond out-of-doors became the new scene of activity on the part of high school baseball fans, now given a chance to participate in a modified, though strenuous, form of that game.

G. A. A. BOARD

Each year a group of girls outstanding for sportsmanship, athletic ability, and leadership are selected by the G. A. A. members to comprise what is known as the board. It was composed of Ann Maulsby, president; Kathleen McGillicuddy, vice-president; Laura Mae Conley, secretary; and Annabelle Hinkle, treasurer. In addition to these officers there were managers of the various sports. The duties of these girls were to execute the laws contained in the constitution and to stimulate interest in the organization.

The awards shown are presented to members who have participated in sports or have rendered definite service to the club. For 250 points a girl is entitled to her class numerals; 600 points, a monogram; 1,500 points, a sweater; and for each 500 additional points, a chevron.

WINNER OF CUP

Each year a cup is given by the G. A. A. to the most outstanding senior girl in the organization. Margaret Crisman was chosen last year.

The name of the winner and date is engraved upon the cup, but it remains the property of the school.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The "G. A. A." of Valparaiso High School is a Girls' Athletic Association that offers an opportunity for all girls in the school to participate in the sports in which they are interested. The club was this year under the sponsorship of Miss Mary Jo Hollars, new girls' physical education instructor. The G. A. A. now has 150 active and associate members. Those who have earned 50 points and participate in the various sports offered are active; those who have signified their intention of participating in the various activities are associate members.

This organization does not try to interest every girl, but it believes that there is greater joy and recreation in wholesome participation than in intensive competition. It believes that to insure this type of recreation, certain ideals must be widely adopted.

This year the G. A. A. became a member of the National Amateur Athletic Federation. The purpose of this organization is to combat certain unwholesome tendencies which hinder girls' athletics. Yearly dues of three dollars which are taken from the treasury entitle G. A. A. members to monthly newsletters and printed publications of pamphlets, studies, and research reports. With complete co-operation, the G. A. A. had a successful year.

GIRLS' NOONDAY LEAGUE

What can we do with our leisure time at noon? This question was often asked by the girls who ate their lunch at school.

The G. A. A. attempted to solve this problem by providing a noonday league of sports for these girls. This league now has 88 members under the chairmanship of Pauline Witner. Its purpose is to provide suitable recreation for girls who cannot take part in the activities after school, but who are at school during the noon hour.

The sports offered are divided into two classes, the indoor and outdoor. The indoor activities consist of ping pong, shuffleboard, tetherball, loop tennis, and bowling. The outdoor sports, popular in the spring and fall of the year, are handball, horseshoes, and badminton. Individual and interclass tournaments are held in each of these sports, creating much enthusiasm and interest. Several of the winners of these contests were: bowling — team 7, Lucile Malony, captain; chess champions, seniors; ping pong, singles — Martha Snow, doubles — Martha Snow and Evelyn Witner; shuffleboard — Betty Stanton; badminton — Pauline Biggs; horseshoes — Polly Wheeler and Pauline Witner; health ball — Polly Wheeler. tennis is a new sport for Valparaiso High School and proved to be the most popular of all spring games. This sport will be organized like all others and a tournament will be played.

Every girl that enrolls in noonday league receives 25 G. A. A. points for each sport she participates in, and for each tournament win she receives 25 points. This makes it possible for these girls who can not take part in the after school sports to receive any of the G. A. A. awards offered, providing they belong to the main organization and have a specified number of points.

Many of the girls have made use of this opportunity of participating in the sports at noon, and have thus made their daily school life more interesting. So keen has the interest become that girls who do not remain at noon want to participate in these activities.

SOC CER

The Girls' Athletic Association opened its season of sports by introducing that invigorating outdoor sport—soccer. Seventy girls responded to the call with the enthusiasm of true sports-women. Lois Wharton, soccer chairman, divided the group into teams, who chose the following captains according to their respective team number: Laura Mae Conley, Annabelle Hinkle, Phyllis Julian, Kathleen McGillicuddy, Caroline Wise, and Beryl Ann Brownell. These girls led their teammates with the determination to be champions of the tournament, or the winners of the consolation match. Those honored this year were teams 1 and 3.

After this contest, a class tournament was played. Only the girls with skill and knowledge of soccer were chosen to represent their class. The sophomores defeated the freshmen 2-0 in their preliminary, and the seniors subdued the juniors 2-0. Both games were exciting, but they did not compare with the final game between the sophomores and the seniors. These classes had evenly matched players. After three overtimes of four minutes each, the game was stopped and considered a 0-0 tie. Each player was awarded 25 points for her efforts.

To celebrate this tournament and to represent soccer with an outdoor social event, the G. A. A. sponsors an annual picnic for all of its members.

The outing this year was held on Saturday at Hatch Lake, where 85 girls gathered. After they had played baseball and other games, the girls enjoyed a pioneer supper. In the evening all gathered about the fire, listened to ghost stories, and sang songs. This climaxed the soccer season.

Since out-door hockey is not played among the girls in G. A. A., soccer has a great attraction in the fall month. It has been a sport in the high school curriculum for five years. Henrietta Fisher, '33, was chairman of soccer the year it was introduced. Sixty-five girls responded then in comparison to the seventy girls who entered into the activity this fall.

The Girls' Athletic Association was organized this same year and has done much in aiding the advancement of soccer.

VOLLEYBALL

The next number on the Girls' Athletic Association sports program for the year was volleyball. Its chairman, Polly Wheeler, divided the 83 girls who came out into nine teams. A championship and consolation tournament was started immediately with teams 1 and 4 winning respective honors.

Volleyball technique was carefully studied for the purpose of aiding the girls individually in their type of play. The overhand serve, an innovation this year, was an accomplishment to the girls who learned to master it.

After the first tournament, a class tourney was played. In the semi-finals the freshmen charged the juniors by defeating them in a surprise upset which ended 50-40. This advanced the fighting freshman team to the final game of the contest, where they were to defend themselves against the seniors, who had been victorious over the sophomores. To add color and spirit to the final game, the volleyball poles were decorated with green paper characteristic of the freshman, and with gold and silver paper representing the seniors. The seniors were the winners, scoring an 85-30 victory. They demonstrated the excellent co-operation which was responsible for their success. The freshmen had ability, but lacked the experience of their foe. However, they seemed confident of victory next year, and the other classes shared their optimism, or pessimism, according to the point of view. There was no social event to climax this seasonal sport, but twelve girls and Miss Hollars attended a play day sponsored by the Wheeler High School G. A. A. The purpose of this gathering, which included other county schools, was not to emphasize competition but to promote co-operation and good sportsmanship among the girls of the various schools. This was done by dividing the girls into color teams and engaging them in physical activities the entire day.

Now the girls put away the nets, let the air out of the volleyballs, pumped up the basketballs, and called out "foul—free throw!" instead of "net ball—serve over!"

BASKETBALL

At last it is here! This was the cry of everyone of the 100 girls who rushed out upon the basketball floor seeking wholesome recreation in return for their patient weeks of anticipation. Basketball always has been the girls' favorite sport because of its excitement and physical exercise.

The chairman, Beryl Ann Brownell, divided the girls into an A team which consisted only of the advanced players, and a B team which consisted of the inexperienced players. Teams in each of these two divisions were drawn, and championship and consolation tournaments were played. Following this, the class teams were chosen. The captains of these were: freshman, Lois Maxwell; sophomore, Charlotte Smith; junior, Margaret Schram; and senior, Kathleen McGillicuddy.

This tournament again proved disastrous for the juniors, who were defeated by the freshmen 8-7. The seniors likewise were victors of the sophomores, winning 7-6. This promoted the seniors and the freshmen to a very interesting final game, the former winning by a score of 15-9. This gave the seniors not only the privilege of sitting at the head table at the annual basketball banquet, but also the right to have their names engraved on a silver loving cup awarded each year by the G. A. A. and retained by the organization.

The basketball banquet, always the closing signal of the season, was attended by 140 members of the G. A. A., faculty, and alumnae. Following the dinner, an excellent entertainment was provided which consisted of music by the G. A. A. orchestra, presentation of awards, an address by Miss Stafford of Gary, and dancing.

Presentation of the silver loving cup to class tournament victors was introduced this year. It was for the purpose of creating more interest in the class tournaments; since basketball is the favorite sport, it was fitting that the winners in this sport should receive the cup.

MINOR SPORTS

Accompanying the G. A. A. major sports are the minor activities. These are classified as individual sports, and points are given according to the skill developed by each girl. They consisted of tumbling, archery, baseball, tennis, track, and bicycling.

Tumbling, directed by Caroline Wise, was held every Monday and Friday in the gym. Girls who were able to perform certain feats were placed on a varsity team and awarded additional points. Apparatus work and difficult stunts were featured this year, although the tumbling team did not take part in the Spring Festival.

Archery, popular in the fall and spring of the year, had twenty interested archers entering in the Valpo round. This was a tournament in which each girl shot six arrows at a distance of 25, 30, and 40 feet. A class tournament was also played later in the season. The chairman of this sport was Edna Shideler.

The game of baseball was started April 14 by the chairman, Margaret Schram. Championship and class tournaments were played in this sport with all of the hilarity and interest that baseball does provide.

Tennis is also an invigorating sport that holds the attention of the girls from the last month of school on through the summer vacation. Tournaments and consolations are played, and the winner of each contest is given 25 G. A. A. points.

Bicycling and track proved their popularity with many this year. The chairman of these was Berneice Brown, who planned a track contest, giving the winners G. A. A. points. Bicycling was held on Saturdays and evenings after school.

Last year a bicycle hike was held in which several girls and Miss Schudel rode out to the country and ate their lunches in the woods.

Although many of these minor sports came in the last and busiest month of the school year, there were a large number of girls who signed for them.

CONCLUSION

E are deeply grateful for the aid of students who helped the staff with its clerical and financial duties, as well as for the counsel of our faculty adviser. These people have co-operated with us in striving to show how the progressive spirit keeps our school always modern.

Only a few years hence, you may again look through this book, only to find accounts and pictures of school life sadly outmoded by newly adopted methods of instruction. This yearbook may be superseded by works showing the steady advancements which must come in the journalistic field. Its contents may be forgotten. This staff may be unknown. Yet the theme around which the 1936 VALENIAN centers will never become a thing of the past. As long as Valparaiso High School operates, this spirit of advancement will motivate those who attend.
